Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 51-56 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Willemot, et al.-5560353 in view of Rapoport, et al.-5803066 and Hete, et al.-5701883.

Willemot discloses the use of an information storage card C for programming a CPAP device for use at home. The controller or CPU also writes data to the card after a therapeutic regimen has been performed. One of the things it writes to the card is the amount of time the patient used the device. The system also has a display. However, the particulars of the CPAP device and the usage monitor are not disclosed. Rapoport discloses a CPAP device having a housing, blower, a gas outlet, a controller which controls the speed of the blower, a mask and patient circuit, and a memory card used to program the CPAP unit. It would have been obvious to have used a CPAP unit as taught by Rapoport in the system of Willemot, as this is a common set-up to provide a patient with proper breathing gas to treat respiratory ailments. Willemot as modified by Rapoport makes obvious the invention as claimed with the exception of the exhaust port. However, Hete discloses the use of an exhaust port 24. It would have been obvious to have provided the system of Willemot as modified by Rapoport with an exhaust port, as this provides the circuit with a means to exhaust CO₂ laden exhaled gas.

To have displayed the amount of time the device was used would have been obvious as the device records the times the patient used the device to determine if the patient complied with the treatment regimen.

Since the card is given back to the physician at some point, it would have been obvious to have mailed it back, as this would eliminate an unneeded trip by the patient.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 42 and 50 are allowed.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
